DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the insulating material between the first and second windings and a third winding wound around the external surface of the magnetic element [figure 5] must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4, 6-9 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tolle et al. [US 2004/0164834 A1].

Tolle et al. discloses a transformer [figure 1] comprising :

- an insulating base [16] having terminal pins [14a, 14b] ;
- a magnetic core [11] including external surface; and
- first and second coils [12, 13] wound directly around the external surface of the magnetic core, wherein ends of the first coil [12] connected to the terminal pins.

Regarding claim 2, Tolle et al. discloses the external surface of the magnetic core includes a substantially curved surface.

Regarding claim 3, Tolle et al. discloses the magnetic core includes a substantially cylindrical portion [11a].

Regarding claim 4, Tolle et al. discloses the magnetic core further includes substantially planar surfaces [figure 1].

Regarding claim 7, Tolle et al. discloses the first coil comprising magnet coil.

Regarding claims 8-9, Tolle et al. discloses the second coil comprising magnet coil with triple insulation layers.

Art Unit: 2832

Regarding claim 17, Tolle et al. discloses both ends of the second coil not coupled to the terminal pins [figure 1].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tolle et al.

Tolle et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the specific shape of the external surface and a third winding wound around the magnetic core.

The specific shape of the magnetic core external surface and additional winding would have been an obvious design consideration based on the intended applications/environment use.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tolle et al. in view of Chen [US 5,124,681].

Tolle et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for an insulation material disposed between the first and second coils.

Chen discloses a transformer [figure 2B] comprising:

- a magnetic core [304]
- first and second coils [301, 302] wound around the magnetic core; and
- an insulation material [303] disposed between the first and second coils.

Art Unit: 2832

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to an insulation material between the first and second coils of Tolle et al., as suggested by Chen, for the purpose of providing insulation.
